Types of websites

1. Make Money with Website

A site built to make money from your website will require things like a way for the visitor to pay for the items, a shopping cart if you have a lot of things for them to purchase and security features to protect the purchaser's information. To give a good impression of your business your site needs to give a professional appearance.

- Electronic commerce, commonly written as e-commerce or eCommerce, is the trading or facilitation of trading in products or services using computer networks, such as the Internet or online social networks.^[1] Electronic commerce draws on technologies such as mobile commerce, electronic funds transfer, supply chain management, Internet marketing, online transaction processing, electronic data interchange (EDI).

2. Websites Built to Share Information

A website to share information may not require as many features as a site that sells something. One thing you have to consider is if you are going to allow visitors to add comments or additional resources to your site. This would require additional features from your website hosting.

The screenshot shows the homepage of the 'ROOM for moms' website. The header features the site's logo, a tagline, and login/register options. A navigation bar includes categories like Family Health, Parenting & Family Life, In Your Neighborhood, and Connect With Moms. The main content area is titled 'To get started, just click on the mom that's most like you.' and presents four profiles: Kiyana (Starting a family), Sarah (Having my first baby), Jackie (Having another one), and Christina (Not pregnant, with kids). Each profile has a photo and a description. Below these profiles is a section for 'Prenatal Trait for your Child?' with radio button options for traits like good looks, intelligence, kindness, positive outlook, and determination. A 'Vote' button is at the bottom of this section. The right sidebar contains several featured content boxes: 'Dr. Traver on Stress During Pregnancy' with a 'watch video' button, 'Recipes and grocery lists' with a 'go >>' button, 'Baby Expo at the Quest' with a 'go >>' button, 'Week 21' with a 'Visit the forum >>' button, and 'Breastfeeding vs. bottle-fed' with a 'Check out the blog >>' button. The footer includes a 'Printer-friendly version' link and a navigation menu with links to home, about, contact us, privacy, terms, site map, search, and alegent.com.

Websites Built for Family and Friends

Family and friends websites would have a less formal feel. For this type of site you would also have to consider if your family and friends will be permitted to automatically add to the content of your website. Again, this would require additional features from your website hosting.
